

ABSTRACT

This invention deals with an apparatus and method for the industrial production of a new form of hydrogen, oxygen and other gases possessing a higher specific density and a greater energy content than its corresponding conventional gas before processing the conventional gas through the apparatus.

Patent 2001/P01120003.3293c023.121301.doc

J:\Patent2001\P01120003.3293c023.121301.doc